WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2. 1741.

I Find the World is not altogether ſo unattentive to the Gazetteer as ſome Writers would have us believe. Not long ago I publiſhed a whole Paper full of Letters, with an Invitation to my kind Correſpondents to continue their Favours, ſince which I have received enough to furniſh Two Papers. ingly I have divided them as their Subjects di- At preſent I ſhall oblige my Readers with ſuch olitical, and as ſoon as a favourable Occaſion with thoſe on Miſcellaneous Subjects. But I forget that in ſilence to my Correſpondents I injure my Read- detaining them from what will entertain them an any Thing I can ſay.

To CALEB D'ANVERS, Eſq;

Friend,

VE wonder'd more than once, at that Mix- of Impudence, and Want of Diſcernment, in ponents, who accuſe at every Turn of Want of the moſt candid Writer in the World; and to expoſe you for arguing ſometimes on one rinciples, and anon upon another, as if you had t Right thus to act; when nothing is more no- than that you exhibit your Claim to it in your e—THE CRAFTSMAN.

Heaven's ſake, Could any thing be more proper? the Town have fairer Warning given them? ould the Miniſtry or their Friends be in the dark , as to your Character, when they had your ord for it, that you was— A MAN OF CRAFT. ee, Sir, what comes of having ſuperior Parts: ould not believe you, even tho' you told them th, but would needs have you a PATRIOT; reſt Thing on Earth from a CRAFTSMAN. you firſt ſet out, I well remember People did w juſtly what to make of you. Some ſaid you COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, others a COUR- juſt diſcarded. But a merry Fellow, and an ance of yours, ſaid in a publick Coffee-houſe, 's his CRAFT; igad, N—— as yet does not that he's to be himſelf. In good time, however, the COUNTRY JOURNAL; a Proof RAFT was what the Court had no Occaſion

He furniſh'd you with OLD 's Letters, penn'd in the Stile of a ſtern Whig, s with Occaſional Apologies for the Tories, and with his Diſſertation on Parties, written in the e of a Trimmer: All which ſerved to ſell your and raiſe his Reputation. But, after all, did he e too much? 'Tis ſaid your other PATRON ſions of him, not without Cauſe, for ſurely he CRAFTS-MASTER.

Now, to ſum up my Buſineſs in my Concluſion. People, honeſt CALEB, begin to talk oddly of you. Some ſay you grow old and doating, your Wits failing faſt; others ſay you never had any, but that making a Pretence to ſome was your CRAFT. However that be, you are certainly ſinking; you muſt perceive it in your Sale: But what troubles me is, my Hopes are in the OPPOSITION, and by this Circumſtance I ſuſpect the CRAFT is in DANGER.

Adieu, Brother Snarler,

T. P.

KORAH the Murmurer, to HERCULES the Hector.

Brother Tart,

I Cannot but acknowledge (my Puniſhment not having chang'd my Temper) that I am always well pleas'd, when by Advice from your World I learn, that there riſes up in it from time to time brave Men who oppoſe Power, as Power, and do not ſtay till Oppreſſion make them clamour. A wiſe King, who reigned long after my Days obſerved, That Oppreſſion would make a wiſe Man mad; no wonder then that it makes the People ſpeak. No marvel that under ſuch a Situation Factions riſe, and Commotions enſue. To excite theſe in ſuch Circumſtances requires no more than common Abilities; and ſince I came hither I would never ſuffer one of the Heads of ſuch Seditions to give himſelf Airs in my Preſence. To complain when there's Reaſon, is natural; to pull down Tyrants, nothing extraordinary; where all or where the greateſt Part are concerned, there will be enough to aſſiſt: But to pull down the beſt as well as the greateſt, to bring a whole Nation to act againſt their own Intereſts, to impoſe on the Underſtandings of a whole People, and induce them to throw away their Happineſs; this is Skill, Management, Addreſs, Policy, and whatever elſe may ſtir the Admiration and Envy even of Lucifer, that famous Parent of theſe Notions, and the conſtant Patron of all the haughty Spirits who abhor Subjection.

From the Account I have had of you, it may be doubtful if you ever read my Hiſtory. I will therefore relate it to you in few Words. I liv'd in the Days of Moſes the Hebrew Lawgiver, and rais'd a Rebellion againſt him in the Wilderneſs. It is true he was the meekeſt Man upon Earth, his Adminiſtration was the mildeſt that could be, every thing proſpered under him, nor did the People feel or even ſurmiſe any Grievances that were owing to him. But he had long been a Miniſter, and there was no Room to ſuppoſe he would ceaſe being ſo as long as he liv'd. He knew his Righteouſneſs, he was a little conceited of his Uprightneſs, ſo that one could neither engage him in any Schemes for mutual Advantage, or form any rational Hopes of ſupplanting him. This led me to malign him, for in truth I was weary of leading a private Life and of Submiſſion, tho' to an inſpir'd Chief, one of my own Family, and to whom I had many Obligations.

To bring a conſiderable Body of People, and ſome of the Heads of Families into my Faction, I inſinuated, that however juſt, however pious, however favour'd by the Divine Being, he had no Right to aſſume the Sovereign Authority, that this derogated in the firſt place from the Nobility, who, by virtue of their Deſcent, might claim a Share in the Government; to the Levites, who being call'd to GOD's Service, derived from thence a Title to make their Brethren ſerve them; to the whole Houſe of Iſrael, who, as they were choſen, were all them holy, and therefore ought to obey no temporal Prince, but to govern themſelves. Theſe Suggeſtions had their Effects, tho' Moſes did Miracles, was gentle in his Conduct, eaſy of Acceſs, and with great Patience led us thro' that Wilderneſs in which we were entangled by our own Sins not his. The Chiefs (of the Tribe of Reuben eſpecially) began to cabal, the Levites to murmur, and the People to ſhew a Readineſs to revolt. Had he been like any other Miniſter, he had fallen, and we the Patriots of Jacob aſcended the Tribunal of Iſrael in his ſtead; but Omnipotence interpoſed, and ſent me and my Company alive hither.

But, Hercules, I fell gallantly, I never ſqueak'd, nay ſo thoroughly had I tainted my Brethren with my Notions, that, notwithſtanding the Manner of my Puniſhment, they mutiny'd the very next Day, and running together on Moſes and his Brother, cry'd out Ye have ſlain the People of the Lord. Now, tho' this was at once Blaſphemy and Treaſon, yet it ſhews our Intereſt among our Countrymen, and what, but for his Divine Protector, the meek Moſes had to truſt to. His Virtues, which have charm'd Poſterity, could not beget Affection, nor all his Wiſdom procure him Quiet. Such an Influence had our Arts.

Let me then exhort you, brave Hercules, to keep up your Spirits. If the Power you would deſtroy be ever ſo loyally eſtabliſhed, or ever ſo prudently adminiſtred, don't deſpair. Declare for Liberty, promiſe great things, and inſinuate ſtrange ones. Apply to the Ambition of the Nobles, the Intereſt of the Clergy, the Paſſions of the People. You will thus excite intollerable Diſtractions, and an univerſal Averſion to Authority, amongſt thoſe with whom you live. Fear not the Experiment. I am well read in the Tempers of Men, and what ſerv'd me will even at this Diſtance of Time ſerve you. Proceed then, and be aſſur'd that nothing but a Miracle can preſerve your Governors, or overwhelm yourſelves. Adieu, I am a Well-wiſher to all the Friends of Confuſion.

KORAH.

P. S. Dathan and Abiram preſent their Reſpects to you.

To R. FREEMAN, Eſq;

Honeſt Ralph,

BEING of an old Lancaſhire Race, that kept to their ancient Creed at the Reformation, I thought it my Duty to encourage a Catholick Brother, and therefore got the Common Senſe into all the Inns on this Side the Country, and on his Recommendation procur'd the ſame Favour for a certain Magazine: But how am I requited? Truly for three Weeks together, one ſlic'd out two-pence a Cut what the other had ſold us in the Joint a Month before for ſix-pence. At this our Innkeepers grumbled, but on my aſſuring them it would never happen again, they were pacified, —— till laſt Week, when by'r Lady he did the ſame. To be reveng'd on him, I rubb'd up an old Knack I had at verſifying when I went to Preſton School, and writ the incloſed, which prithy publiſh.

Thy Wit worn out, ſtill ſtrong thy Spleen,
Thou ſteal'ſt for thy Relief.
Thy Boaſt of COMMON SENSE has been:
Now thou'rt a COMMON THIEF.

To RALPH FREEMAN, Eſq;

Dear Sir,

I BEG you will make an Apology for me to Mr. Crambo, and tell him, the only Reaſon I compar'd the MAN to the MOON, was, that I ſaw a Parcel of Puppies barking at it, for no other Reaſon (that I could find) but for its Altitude and Brightneſs. This (will I hope) with what's under-written in ſome meaſure attone for my Lunatick Compariſon.

Tom's Coffee-houſe, Aug. 28, 1741. I am, Sir, with great Reſpect, Your very humble Servant, H. D.

Crambo, I find, 's a Man of Senſe,
And has to Poetry Pretence.
But had I made Him like the Sun,
They'd ſtill bark on, and ne'er ha' done.
So let them ſnarl with all their Might,
The toothleſs Crew can never bite.
I cannot think it any Breach,
If we ſhou'd put him out of Reach,
And ſo together go ſo far,
As to pronounce him a FIXT STAR.

Copenhagen, Sept. 2. N. S.

THE Wind having turned about, several English Ships are now come down both from Stockholm and Petersbourg, who do not complain of any Arrest or Vexation. Letters from Stockholm say, an Attack upon Cronstadt was begun, a vigorous Defence was made, and the Swedes had already lost many Men in the Enterprize. It is also wrote from Stockholm, that a Sickness is got among their Troops in Finland.

Whitehall, September 1. Letters from Vice-Admiral Vernon, dated from on board the Boyne in Port Royal Harbour in Jamaica the 18th of June, to his Grace the Duke of Newcastle his Majesty's Principal Secretary of State, give an Account, that he was preparing with all Diligence to put to Sea, General Wentworth making the proper Dispositions to accompany him with the Land-Forces, and it was hoped that every thing would be ready for their sailing in a very few Days. The homeward-bound Fleet of Merchantships which sailed some Time since with the Torrington Man of War, had most of them been oblig'd to put back to Jamaica: Some of those Merchantships had put into St. Antonio, with the Torrington, which had lost her Main-topmast, and received some other Damage. The Assembly of Jamaica have passed a Bill for vesting in the Crown, the necessary Land wanted for the Enlargement of the King's Yard at Port Royal, to make it capable of careening Ships, and have likewise agreed to pay the Purchase of the same.

Plymouth, Aug. 28. His Majesty's Ship the Norfolk is this Day arrived here, having on board a Captain of a Spanish Packet-boat and his Servant, taken by the Defiance, Capt. John Trevor Commander. Captain Graves of the Norfolk parted with Commodore Lestock and the following Men of War off the Ramhead Yesterday; viz. Princess Carolina, Russell, Shrewsbury, Torbay, Chichester, Hampton-Court, Burford, Windsor and Falmouth.

Portsmouth, Aug. 30. Yesterday arrived at Spithead his Majesty's Ships the Russell, Shrewsbury and Torbay.

Commodore Lestock sailed from Port Royal on the 20th of June, with his Majesty's Ships the Princess Carolina, Russell, Norfolk, Shrewsbury, Princess Amelia, Torbay, Chichester, Hampton-Court, Burford, Windsor, and Falmouth, to Bluefield's Bay, where they watered, and were joined by Eighty Sail of Merchantships and discharg'd Transports, bound for England and North America. They sailed from Bluefield's Bay on the 26th, and on the 16th of July the Princess Amelia and Falmouth, with all the Trade and Transports, parted with the rest of the Squadron in the Latitude of 29; the Princess Amelia being ordered to convoy the Trade and Transports bound to England, and the Falmouth those bound to North America, and to keep Company with each other as far as their Way lay together: Commodore Lestock with the rest of the Squadron made the best of his Way for England, and on the 19th of August in Lat. 49. was joined by the Falmouth, after she had seen the Trade bound to North America to the Station appointed.

On the 19th of June, Col. Robinson, who commanded one of the Regiments of Marines, died of a Fever at Port Royal, after three Days Illness.

They write from Genoa, that the Bavariansare gone home again with their Jewels, no body offering to advance above 150000 Florins upon them; and that the French General in Corsica having declar'd to the Marquis de Spinola Governor of Bastia, that his Master intended to withdraw all his Forces out of the Island this Month, the Marquis has desir'd more Troops of the Republick or else Leave to retire.

From Venice, that the Republick complains loudly against France and Spain, because those Courts gave it no Notice of their Motions; which has oblig'd the Republick to arm itself in all haste, to be ready for Defence against any Attack.

At Vienna they have some Letters from Presbourg, which say, that 'tis hardly to be doubted now but a Peace is agreed on betwixt her Majesty and the King of Prussia; and that 'twas expected every day that Mr. Robinson would set out with the Preliminaries to Silesia, and afterwards proceed from thence to Hanover.

LONDON, August 29.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, Sept. 8.

'Our Letters from Stockholm confirm an Opinion 'which has long been receiv'd here, that the King of 'Sweden is not very sanguine in regard to the War. 'The Russian Minister having had some Packets sent 'to him, found therein Letters notifying the Birth of a 'Princess of Russia, which he immediately sent back 'to his Swedish Majesty, by whom they were kindly 'receiv'd. But however the Court may or may not be 'pleased with the War, the People grow warmer every 'Day, especially since the Arrival of two Expresses 'from Constantinople, which have brought, or at least 'are said to have brought the strongest Assurances of 'Succour. The Minister directs Things at present 'almost at his Will: He came into Power by being at 'the Head of a potent Faction, and he pushes the Designs of those who raised him with Vigour.

'We have Advice from Francfort of the 3d of this 'Month, that great Preparations are making there for 'the ensuing Election. The Elector of Mentz being 'speedily expected in that City, to open the Conferences 'relative thereto. The Election however will not 'come on till October, and then it is said the Contest 'will lie entirely between the Electors of Saxony and 'Bavaria. My Correspondent mentions an Account 'of Mr. Robinson's setting out Post from Vienna for 'Silesia, on the 25th of August last; which however 'does not agree with our Letters from the City last 'mentioned, of a Day later Date, which assures us that 'Mr. Robinson waited the Return of a Courier from 'Silesia before he took another Journey thither.

'I have a Letter from my Friend in the Austrian 'Camp at Tyrna, dated Aug. 25, wherein he assures 'me, that for several Days together they expected an 'Engagement; and that on the 23d the Advanc'd 'Guards of the two Armies skirmish'd, wherein the 'Austrians had the Advantage, killing forty, and taking 'ninety Prisoners. At the Time of writing his Letter 'it was believed, that if the Prussians did not attack 'them in two or three Days, they might conclude the 'King of Prussia would at last listen to an Accommodation.

'My Correspondent at Paris, in a Letter dated the '1st inst advises, that there are some very extraordinary 'Reports in that Capital, which notwithstanding meet 'with Belief. Of these he mentions two; the first, 'that his most Christian Majesty will shortly name an 'Embassador Extraordinary to the Queen of Hungary, 'in order to sign a Treaty lately concluded with that 'Princess. The other is, the Resolution of the Court 'to declare War against Great Britain, in case M. de 'Bussy meets with no Success in his Negociation at 'Hanover, of which it is also said there are very 'little Hopes. His Sardinian Majesty seems to have 'put both the French and Spanish Courts to a Stand. 'He makes great Preparations for War, and at the 'same time refuses his Consent to the Spanish Troops 'entering Italy. Some penetrating Politicians however think these are only Appearances, and that there 'is no such Coldness between these Courts as they 'would have the World believe.

'In a Letter from Dusseldorp, dated Sept. 3. there 'is this Passage, We have this Minute Advice from 'Hanover, that a Suspension of Arms is agreed on in 'Silesia.

'This is in some measure confirm'd by a Letter from 'Berlin, wherein the Writer assures his Correspondent, 'that just as the Post was going out, an Express arriv'd 'from the Prussian Camp in Silesia, with Advice that 'Mr. Robinson was actually there, but as yet had not 'had an Audience of his Prussian Majesty.

'Every body here is charm'd with the Conduct of 'the British Plenipotentiary, who takes the utmost 'Pains to demonstrate the Care Great Britain has taken 'to be in Readiness to assist its Allies, to support the 'Protestant Interest, and to maintain the Balance; so 'that whatever happens, the Blame cannot be laid on 'that Court. He does this with so much Steadiness, 'and expresses himself with such Force and Perspicuity, 'that there can be no Doubt of his Sincerity, and yet 'with such Temper and Politeness, that such as are 'least pleas'd with his Discourses, can find in them no 'Ground for taking Offence.'

A French Ship bound from Bourdeaux to Waterford with Wine, Cork and Rosin, was brought into Cork on the 22d of August by some Fishermen; the Vessel was deserted by the Crew, having a Plank started, and full of Water; but floated by reason of the Cork, Wine, &c.

Yesterday Col. Wolfe and several other Officers who came home in Commodore Lestock's Squadron from Jamaica, Jamaica, on account of their bad State of Health, arriv'd in Town from Portſmouth.

Yeſterday two Porters belonging to the Fleet-market quarrell'd, 'tis ſaid about an Apple, to ſuch a Degree that the one ſtabb'd the other in his Left Side with a Knife ſo that he died inſtantly. He who ſtabb'd him is ſecur'd in the Counter.

Yeſterday being the Anniverſary of the dreadful Fire of London (in 1666), which continued for four Days, and almoſt conſumed this City, the ſame was obſerved with much Solemnity, and Sermons preached in ſeveral of our Churches proper to the melancholy Occaſion; the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, attended by Aldermen, Sheriffs, and the Twelve Companies, went to St. Paul's, and heard an excellent Sermon ſuited to the Day.

On Tueſday laſt died at Hammerſmith, aged upwards of Seventy, Charles Croſſe, Eſq; an eminent Brewer at Millbank Weſtminſter, Brother to the late Sir Thomas Croſſe, Bart. and Uncle to the preſent Sir John Croſſe, Baronet and Member of Parliament for Leſtwithiel in Cornwall.

We are credibly inform'd from Bath, That a Sett of Gentlemen who are come to reſide there, amongſt whom are ſome Gentlemen of the Law, do intend to revive the Inquiry into the Charitable Uſes of thoſe Lands, &c. formerly given by pious Benefactors for Support of the Poor there; and to apply what may be recover'd, towards increaſing the Revenue of the Hoſpital or Infirmary lately erected in that City. We are likewiſe aſſured, That ſome Act will be moved for the next Seſſion of Parliament (a Petition being drawn up for that Purpoſe) to enjoin the Magiſtracy of that Place to clear their Streets of Begging Vagrants, at preſent ſo great a Nuſance to the Inhabitants of the City, and to all who reſort thither.

Mr. Wilſon, of the Oldeſt Lottery-Office at Charing-Croſs, being a large Subſcriber in this preſent Lottery, is now ready to diſpoſe of the Tickets, either ſingly or in large Parcels, on the moſt reaſonable Terms; likewiſe to divide them into Shares, ſuch as Halves, Quarters, Eighth and Sixteenth Parts, for the Conveniency of ſmall Adventurers, conſtant Attendance being given at the Office for that Purpoſe. His Regiſter-Book is open for entering the Numbers of Tickets, from which all Perſons who regiſter with him are ſure of the moſt correct as well as early Accounts being ſent to any Part whatſoever, whether Prize or Blank.

The Incomparable POWDER for Cleaning the TEETH,

Has withſtood, by its moſt excellent and known Virtues, all Attempts of many repeated Counterfeits; ſome imitating it by the Name of Powder, others under ſeveral other Names; I therefore pray take Notice, that the only true eſtabliſhed and original Powder, is ſold no where elſe, but as mentioned below: It is ſent for in large Quantities from the Plantations beyond the Seas, where good Allowance is given, and is as effectual in the Eaſt and Weſt Indies as at London.

IT has given ſurprizing Satisfaction to moſt of the Nobility and Gentry in England, near Years laſt paſt, that it hath been publiſhed, and vaſt Quantities of it ſtill continue to be ſold.

It is ſold only at Mrs King's Toyſhop, the Blue-coat, againſt the Croſs-Keys Tavern in Cornhill; and at Mr Markham's Toy-ſhop, the Seven Stars under St Dunſtan's Church in Fleet-ſtreet, and no where elſe in England at each Box.

A once uſing it makes the Teeth as white as Ivory, tho' ſo black or yellow before, and effectually preſerves them rotting or decaying, continuing them ſound to exceeding Age. It wonderfully cures the Scurvy in the Gums, prevents Rheum or Defluction, kills the Worms at the Roots of Teeth, and thereby hinders the Tooth-ach. It admirably faſtens looſe Teeth, being a neat cleanly Medicine, of a pleaſant and grateful Scent, and in Virtue far exceeds any That ever yet found out for thoſe Purpoſes.

All the Nobility, Gentry, &c. who ſend to Mrs Markham for the Powder for Teeth, are deſired to give ſtrict Orders to miſtake the Shop, (MARKHAM at length is under the Seven Stars) becauſe moſt of the Toymen in her Neighbourhood, ſeeing Multitudes go to her Shop for it, have truſted up Counterfeits and ſell their Stuff in Imitation of this true and approved Powder, in Prejudice to the Publick, &c.

The LIP-SALVE.

Which is ſo much eſteemed, and of ſo many Years Experience, and whoſe Virtues vaſtly exceed any of the ſame Counterfeits, ſince its firſt Publication, is ſold at the ſame Places at 1 s. each Box.

For in two or three Hours time it heals them, tho' never ſo rough or chopt; prevents the Skin from peeling, and makes them delicately ſoft and ſmooth, giving them a becoming Orbicund Colour; the Fragrancy of its Odour alſo renders the Breath fine and ſweet, and it may be eaten for its Safety.
